IMPORTANT NOTES TO READ AND UNDERSTAND

It is Sunsail's aim to ensure that all Voyages are commenced and completed at the advertised destinations. However, please note that the MileCatchers Voyages are offshore sailing trips and it is possible to experience a variety of weather conditions. In heavy weather conditions additional demands can be placed on the vessel and the crew. We will at no time put our passengers, crew or vessel in any unnecessary danger and it is therefore the decision of the skipper to decide whether to complete or commence voyages.

In the unlikely event that your start or finish destination changes, Sunsail will cover the cost of your transport (in a method chosen by Sunsail) to your new destination. We recommend you book flexible / changeable airfares as Sunsail accept no responsibility for cancellation of airfares due to voyage delays or destination changes. All suggested itineraries are subject to prevailing weather conditions and the skippers discretion. Please note that SAFETY is our number one priority!

Weather conditions: The trade winds on the east coast of Queensland during our MileCatchers season (April to September) are generally South Easterly. The strength can vary depending on the synoptic situation. It is fair to assume that the southern voyages should expect more windward sailing than the northern voyages.

Please contact us one week prior to your voyage commencement to confirm all details.

I declare that I have read and accept the terms and conditions attached and agree that my booking is subject to these conditions. I have seen the fact sheet relating to my voyage and understand all the details relating to the accommodation and provisioning arrangements onboard.
